Reflections

"There is a time for everything, and a season for every activity under heaven:
a time to be born and a time to die,
a time to plant and a time to uproot,
a time to kill and a time to heal,
a time to tear down and a time to build,
a time to weep and a time to laugh,
a time to mourn and a time to dance,
a time to scatter stones and a time to gather them,
a time to embrace and a time to refrain,
a time to search and a time to give up,
a time to keep and a time to throw away,
a time to tear and a time to mend,
a time to be silent and a time to speak,
a time to love and a time to hate,
a time for war and a time for peace."

Ecclesiastes 3:1-8

A time for everything...

Ryan Clark attempts to initiate some brotherly sharing with Neil VanDyke.

Tanya VanderWal and Laura Hibma, having more fun than the law allows with potato chips.

Matt Nelson and Shelly Plantz take time out for a little bit of bonding and general happiness.

Fern Smith's Shamrock Shimmy:
all that fun, AND bubbles, too.

A little scratch on the back is really all it takes to make Chris Moehring into a happy guy.

...there is indeed a time for everything, but didn't it seem this year as if everything happened at the same time? With all the new buildings and the renovations and moving everyone all over campus, it has gotten rather chaotic around this place. In the midst of the frenzy, it is important to remember that in God's plan, there is time for every activity under heaven. So now we invite you to take some time to relax, think back on the year, appreciate all the events that have occurred here in our little world in the past year.

Toshi Shimizu and Shelly Plantz aren't just fair-weather Raider fans.

Far Right: Michelle VanPeurse is unsure about the color of her roomie's toothbrush.

Just thinking about going to the cafeteria causes much unrestrained joy amongst Northwestern students.

Even Beavis and Butthead showed up to check out the Shamrock Shimmy.

Left: Mark Nordyke really can play all those drums.

Far Left: These Great White Northers bring their happiness and enthusiasm to the halls of Hospers.

Erik Karjalainen and Janelle Koolhaas perform a skit during chapel.

Travis Volz concentrates on filming Northwestern's own TV show, CTV.

Jeff Namminga seems to be rather frightened by Jeremy Wiersema and Jill Erickson as he rollerblades through Fern Smith.

Special Events

These two clowns enjoy themselves during Homecoming at Morning on the Green.

Orientation

The Class of 1998 started their college experience full of anticipation and lots of questions. The theme for the Orientation 1995 was "Beyond Belief". The Orientation staff tried to incorporate the theme and make the freshmen feel at "home" in their new place of residence. The first day was filled with meeting with faculty advisors and getting registered for classes. The evening was kicked off by the "Wild Boar Hunt", which consisted of eating picnic style and getting acquainted with new people. After chowing down, let the games begin!

Wild and crazy games were held in the RSC mini-gym. After getting hot and sweaty, the freshmen went to the cafeteria to cool down for a Western Roundup and Hoedown. The staff performed skits and general entertainment.

By the end of the action-packed weekend, questions had been answered, roommates had bonded, friendships had begun, and the freshmen were ready to face their first day of classes.

Top: Becky Dykstra makes a direct hit with Keith Starkenburg.

Middle: Freshmen sign up for the new support system (Brother and Sisters in Christ).

Homecoming

The Greatest Show On Earth was the theme for this year's homecoming activities. Besides the old favorites there were some new features on the agenda. These included two volleyball games, and the 5K and 10K Raider Road Race.

However, Homecoming would not be the same without events such as the coed mud volleyball tournament, Annual Air Band Competition, roommate game, "Morning on the Green", and the semi-formal dance. Homecoming would still not be complete without a king and queen. This year's are Reed Friese and Julie Van Engelenhoven. The rest of the court consisted of Scott Dykstra, Chad Jansen, Todd Schmidt, Todd Schuiteman, Nicole Haack, Rachel Mast, Missy Van Klompenburg, and Marcy Van Wyk.

The Sunday morning worship service held in Christ Chapel closed out the week. Another fun-filled Homecoming had come to a close.

Parents' Weekend

Living away from home for the first time can be hard at times, but Parent's Weekend gives the students and their parents the opportunity to bond together. Parents can see what college life is like for their kids. Some of the activities that took place are a special concert by the musical group His Music. This group consists of eight guys from Northwestern who sing a cappella. There was also a craft show, and campus tours were given by the ambassadors.

Parents were also given the chance to take in a football game when the Mighty Raiders played Dana College. The music department also gave a concert consisting of Symphonic Band, Symphonette, and A cappella Choir. Afterwards there was a pie and ice cream social. The weekend was concluded with a Sunday worship service in Christ Chapel. Parent's Weekend was a time to spend quality time with parents and show appreciation for all they have done.

Whew! These Students Ambassadors take a break after giving tours to parents to show the changes occurring on campus.

Sibling Weekend

Going off to college sometimes means leaving brothers and sisters behind. However, Northwestern gives students the chance to spend time with their siblings. Many fun activities were planned for them.

There was a concert by Christian singer/songwriter Michael Kelly Blanchard. His concert moved the audience to laugh and cry while he talked and sang about the human condition and the renewal found in God's unconditional love. There was also the annual Student Ministries sponsored Kid's Carnival. This featured clowns, storytelling, an art station, relay races, and a variety of booths. Sibling Olympics were also held in which siblings competed against each other in a variety of games. A dance was also held where siblings and friends of all ages were able to "get down and get funky".

This weekend ended with relationships strengthened and making the time away from home and family just a little shorter.

Top: Michael Kelly Blanchard performing for students and their siblings in Christ Chapel.

Winter Carnival

Romantic Valentine's Day is a special day which is celebrated during the week of Winter Carnival. The theme for this year was All That Jazz. The whole week had a romantic theme and was geared around Valentine's Day. The week was kicked off by ballroom dance lessons. Students and faculty learned how to polka, fox-trot, waltz and the swing in the evenings at the mini-gym. Another event was romantic horse and carriage rides of scenic Orange City. Instead of attempting to cook there was also the opportunity to take that special someone out to dinner and enjoy a romantic supper for two. However, the main event was the Ballroom Dance. The Northwestern College Jazz Band provided the sounds to fit the mood of the night. All that practice during the week paid off. The week ended with a coffee house which provided food and entertainment.

Top: Beth Byrnes and Eric McDonald twist the night away.

Spring Fest

Spring Fest, a celebration of the coming of spring and the end of the school year. It is time to have a bunch of fun before cracking down and hitting the books for finals. When a person thinks of Spring Fest one envisions sun and warm weather. However, this year was an exception. Excluding the cold weather the activities still went on. A new addition to the Spring Fest agenda was the popular coed mud volleyball tournament. The usual favorites were still held. The wet and wild Bucket Brigade, the famous Battle of the Mighty Floyd, Bigger and Better, and "Eat Dirt" Desert. At the conclusion of the week, students had taken their frustrations out in the spirit of competition.

Right: Lou Bram, Habeeb Awad, Sam Ram, and Dilshad Albert battled the Mighty Floyd and they conquered.

Beth Byrnes proudly announces her roomie's favorite saying.

Right: Leah Dykstra and Darrin
Kimpson dance the night away during the Winter Carnival.

Far Right: Perhaps these two are fighting over who will get to lead at the Ballroom Dance.

Wendi Klein and Melissa Gregory enjoy a carriage ride through town.

The Orientation staff hoots and hollers for the incoming freshmen.

Scott Kusters and Mark Haverdink are surprised by Jason Carlton's answer, while Josh Blakesley contemplates his own response.

Right: The '94-'95 school year saw continued construction on the BIAC.

Construction on the new dorm was also started this year.

Michelle Smith, Michelle VanPeursem, and Jackie Kunkel enjoy a meal outside.

This group devours another healthy, tasteful meal in the cafeteria.

Commencement!

Finally! After many late night (all night?) study sessions, endless papers, projects and book reports, final exams, trips to Truck Haven, approximately 348 chapel services and 1741 Marriot meals, the final consummate moment arrived: graduation.

The commencement speaker for the class of '95 was Dr. Thomas TenHoeve, Jr., president of Oakton Community College, a member of the Northwestern Board of Trustees, and former Northwestern Academic Dean. Dr. TenHoeve delivered a speech entitled "Values, Vessels, Visions," encouraging the graduates to stand by their values.

And so another class has graduated from NWC, leaving room for new students to experience the pressures and pleasures of college life.

Above: Joe Fontenot seems a little unsure about this whole cap, gown, and tassel thing.

Top: Commencement speaker Dr. Thomas TenHoeve, Jr.

Top: Julie DeBlauw and Kristie DeBoer anxiously await their chance to walk across the big stage.

Above: Paulette Ahrenholtz is the lucky first graduate for the Class of '95.

Top: Alright, who wants a diploma?

Middle: Greg Romberg, Ronda Venenga, and Tim VanRoekel let out a sigh of relief after it's all over.

Far Right: Jen Peters is visibly impressed by Jill Lubbers' guitar playing ability.

Northwestern quarterback Adam Tyrrell lofts another touchdown pass to a Raider receiver.

Football

"Thanks for the memories" was the theme for the 1994 NWC Football Team after Coach Larry Korver announced his retirement completing 28 years as Northwestern's head football coach.

The season started with excitement for the Red Raiders as they held Dakota State in the final seconds with an interception. The Raiders then won three more before falling to Teikyo Westmar after entering the game ranked 10th in the nation. The Raiders rebounded from the loss to beat Doane before the Homecoming crowd. Winning continued for the team as they won their final three games of the regular season. The final win, which came over Dana, gave the team the NIAC title. This led the team into the NAIA Division II National Championship Playoffs ranked 4th nationally.

Throughout the season, four players earned conference players of the week. Lance Baatz and Adam Tyrrell received Nebraska-Iowa Conference Offensive Players of the Week, while Mike Bogaard and Greg Terpstra were recognized as defensive players.

Several NWC players also received all-conference honors. Receiving first team honors were: Greg Terpstra, Chip Joecken, Scott Dykstra, Lance Baatz, and Reed Friesse. Terpstra, Joecken, and Dykstra were all picked as the top players at their positions. Named to the second team were Adam Tyrrell, Adam Jennett, Jerry Schlotman, Jeremy De Bie, and Brent Rieck. Selected to honorable mention were: Matt Boehm, Chris Fowler, Jeff Klein, Mitch Elbert, Dewey Hupke, Steve Harman, and Dan Bruhn.

Additional honors went to several players. Receiving Division II All-American First Team were Chip Joecken and Greg Terpstra. Named to the second team was Lance Baatz while Jeremy De Bie was selected honorable mention. Two players also received scholar-athlete awards. Jerry Rens and Lance Baatz received NAIA Division II Football All-America Scholar-Athlete Awards. Baatz was also recognized by being selected to the Little All-American Second Team by the Associated Press. The team certainly did provide Coach Korver with many memories to remember his last year of coaching at Northwestern.

Volleyball

A national ranking of #1 in NAIA Volleyball during part of the season was one of the many highlights for the 1994 Northwestern Volleyball Team. Coached by Mike Meyer and Jill Vander Stoep the sixteen team members worked hard throughout the season to finish with a record of 49-4.

The season started strong for the Red Raiders as they won the Southwest State/NAIA Preseason Classic where Amy Schutt and Melanie Mason were named to the all-tournament team. They continued their winning ways by winning the Graceland Invitational and the Iowa NAIA Volleyball Invitational Title. The team then won twelve more times before losing for the first time to rival Dordt in the Dordt Invitational. Before the loss, the Raiders had won 36 matches in a row which set a school record.

After the loss, the Raiders rebounded to win the NIAC Athletic Conference Championship for the third straight year giving the Raiders a first round bye in the NIAC Conference Tournament. To finish the regular season, the Raiders beat Briar Cliff and Concordia ending the regular season at 40-1. The win at Concordia also gave Coach Meyer his 200th win at NWC. The Raiders then entered postseason play where they found much success.

Throughout the season, Amy Schutt, Melanie Mason, Amy Schutt, and Tish Bergeson were named Conference Players of the Week. Schutt was also named National Player of the Week for the third time in her career. Named to All-Conference First Team were Schutt, Mason, Bergeson. Delia Pini and Barb Zoet were named to Second Team while Suzanne Riche and Amy Van Eerden were Honorable Mention selections. Amy Schutt was named Conference Player of the Year while Coach Meyer was named Conference Coach of the Year. Additional awards were also received as Schutt was named NAIA National Player of the Year for the second time in her career. She and Barb Zoet also earned NAIA Scholar-Athlete Awards, while Schutt additionally earned GTE Academic All-American First Team for her efforts.

The Raiders can definitely be proud of all of their accomplishments for the 1994 season.

Tennis

A good season was had by both the men's and women's tennis teams. The men's team was composed of six juniors and one sophomore while one senior, two juniors, two sophomores, and three freshmen played on the women's team.

Coached by Doug Otto, the men's team used their maturity throughout the season to help them through their highs and lows. The team started off strong by winning their first four matches before losing three straight. The team regrouped to finish the season strong.

Although the team was disappointed with their 4th place finish at the Nebraska-Iowa Athletic Conference meet, they will return lots of experience which will be a positive for next year.

The women's team, coached by Earl Woudstra, remained undefeated for most of the season. The defending Nebraska-Iowa Conference champions worked season to repeat. At the conference meet, though, it did not work out that way. They lost their first tennis match in two years, finishing second at the conference meet. The team looks to work harder and come back stronger next year.

Golf

The Northwestern men's and women's golf teams had their struggles this year along with their strengths. The men's team, coached by Dave Mulder, started their season with a second place finish in the Dordt Quadrangular. The Raiders kept golfing strong although the scores were disappointing. One bright spot of the season was when Brad VanRoekel was averaging par for the season and was the co-medalist at the Dordt Invitational. When the fall season ended, the Raiders looked towards the spring season. The spring season was shot however, due to rainy conditions, so the men did not get to prove themselves as much as they would have like to. At the Norfolk Invitational the Raiders finished in first place behind Brad VanRoekel's 74. The team then went to the Nebraska-Iowa Athletic Conference Championship where they placed third. At the meet Brad VanRoekel shot a 158 which gave him third place, and all-conference.

Coached by Paul Bartlett, the young women's golf team struggled at the beginning of the year. The season began with a loss to Briar Cliff, as the team was getting used to playing together. The women improved throughout the year, although they still struggled at times. The climax of the fall season was winning the Nebraska-Iowa Athletic Conference title for the third time in the last four years. This qualified the Raiders for the national tournament to be held in the spring. The women hoped to improve even more in the spring but because of much rain, their time on the course was limited. This didn't hinder the team though. As individuals, Heather Horstmann finished second, Val Ronning placed fourth, and Caroline Roge finished fifth overall. Both Horstmann and Ronning also earned all-conference honors.

Cross Country

The cross country teams had a more difficult time qualifying for nationals this year than in previous years. Winning the NIAC was something the Running Raiders strove for all season, as it would automatically qualify them. The NIAC is among the best running conferences for small colleges. In previous years, the Raiders had to be among the top teams in the NAIA District 15 in order to qualify.

The season started strong for the teams as they opened at Sioux Falls College. At the invitational, the women finished second while the men finished third, even though their top two runners were injured. The teams continued running strong despite numerous injuries throughout the season.

At the conference meet, the teams ran well, but came up short on the team score. Even though neither team qualified for nationals, Kay Pals and Daron DeJong qualified as individuals. Kay finished 17th after a fall at conference while Daron finished 61st.

At nationals, Kay finished 81st out of 329 runners while Daron placed 49th out of 329. Coach Thompson noted that, "His finish is one of the highest ever for a Northwestern runner at nationals."

The cross country team will be back again next year, striving to win the NIAC and qualify for nationals.

Justin Hartman concentrates on running, while Jon Hood seems to think it's about time to head to the cafeteria.

Wrestling

Nursing injuries was something the Northwestern Wrestlers had to do a little more than they wanted to this season. The injuries were present throughout the entire season so different wrestlers had to come through for the team at different times. At one time in the season, the wrestlers had more injured than healthy.

While healing injuries, many wrestlers worked hard so that they could qualify for the NAIA National Wrestling Championships. Mike Rozeboom, Eric Karjalainen, Denny Orr, Scott Van Der Brink, Robbin Eppinga, and Curt Van Hill all qualified for Nationals during the season.

At the Big Bi-State Conference Wrestling Tournament, Mike Rozeboom was named the meet's standing wrestler after winning by two pins and allowing a single opposing point. At the NAIA Tournament, Denny Orr was crowned champion in the 158 lb. weight class. At the regional meet, the Raiders had an excellent performance. Six Raiders went to the meet and three of them were crowned champions.

An honor went to Coach Paul Bartlett during the season as he was elected president of the NAIA Wrestling Coaches Association.

The team will return many wrestlers with experience next year and are hoping they will have fewer injuries.

Men's Basketball

Ups and downs were had by the 1994 NWC Men's Basketball Team. Coached by Todd Barry, Darrin Kimpson, and Dave Schroeder, the team ended with a 14-14 record.

The team opened the season with a second place finish in the St. Ambrose Classic where Jason Anderson was named to the all-tournament team. The team then won the Teikyo Westmar Holiday Tournament where Ross Douma was named to the all-tournament team. Over Christmas Break, the Raiders hosted the Taco John's Classic where they finished second. Ross Douma and Curt Hofman were named to the all-tournament team at the tournament.

The Raiders continued playing hard while they were dealing with their struggles. One bright spot of the season was playing in "The Old Barn" for the last time against Teikyo Westmar. The Raiders won the game to end their playing days there on a winning note. During the game, Josh Bird had two big dunks to end his college career on a high note.

The Raiders ended their season at the NIAC Tournament against Dana College. Although the team struggled this year, many of the Raiders saw varsity playing time which could prove beneficial next year since the team only lost three seniors.

Named to the NIAC Honorable Mention Team were Ross Douma, Brandt Carlson, and Jason Anderson.

Women's Basketball

A big improvement was seen in the play of the women's basketball team this year. After winning only five games a year ago, the team ended with a season record of 14-14. They were coached by Earl Woudstra and Julie Roetman.

One of the highlights of the season for the team was winning the Teikyo Marycrest Tournament. The title was the first tournament title the women's team had won in several years. At the tournament, Missy VanKlompberg and Darla Redeker were named to the all-tournament team.

The team kept improving throughout the season although they had to deal with some challenges along the way.

The season ended for the Raiders against Doane

College in the NIAC Tournament. Missy VanKlompberg was the only senior on the team, and the Raiders will return a lot of experience next year.

During the season, Jennifer Taylor was named NIAC player of the week. She was also named to honorable mention in the conference for her efforts. Missy VanKlompberg was named all-Nebraska-Iowa Athletic Conference for her play on the court as well as a NAIA Scholar-Athlete for her academic performance.

Raider Track

With the large amount of young runners, the Running Raiders looked to gain lots of experience running at the college level this year. Nine freshmen women and eleven freshmen men joined the team and proved to be a very positive addition.

The indoor season started after Christmas Break with the NWC Early Bird Meet. This meet was like a scrimmage and it provided the young team a chance to run against other competition. The team then went to the University of Nebraska Invitational where Bryant Engelmann finished 6th in the 800 among a strong field of runners. Next the team went to the ISU Invitational and Northwestern runners Kay Pals and Bryant Engelmann qualified for nationals in the 5,000 meter run and the 800 meter run, respectively.

The outdoor season held several highlights for the Raiders. They put forth a good effort at the Buena Vista Invitational despite the frigid weather. At the St. City Relays, Kay Pals qualified for her fourth event in an outdoor national track meet. Pals set a new meet record in the 10,000 meter run and ran 1:25 under the national qualifying time. At the NIAC outdoor track championships, the team had to compete without some of their performers. One highlight was the return of Jere Bolluyt to the 110 meter high hurdles following knee surgery. Bolluyt finished third even though it was only the third time he had run it this spring.

The Running Raiders worked hard throughout the season, and with many runners returning next year they will be even more competitive.

Baseball

One group that definitely could not help but notice the frequently cloudy Orange City skies during the spring was the baseball team. However, the wet and muddy conditions from spring rains did not keep the baseball team from having a good season. Having several seniors mixed with underclassmen who came through when necessary made for a good combination.

The team, coached by Mark Bloemendaal, started the season with a 4-2 record, with both losses being by one run, before struggling and losing the next five out of six. The Raiders regrouped, however, to win six in a row the next week of play. The team continued working on their batting and fielding to prepare for the rest of the season. Besides struggling to find dry fields to play on, the Raiders also had difficulty finding dry ground to practice on. Many times throughout the season, games would be the only time the team would be able to be outdoors without getting too wet. One goal for the team throughout the season was winning the conference so that they could qualify for regionals. That goal was dashed, though, when the Raiders lost home to Hastings. The loss made Hastings the conference champs while the Raiders took second. They ended the regular season 15-5 in the conference and 27-12 overall.

Another hit for Northwestern.

Softball

Spring rains played havoc with the 1995 NWC Softball Schedule. With the frequent storms, the team had difficulty finding dry fields to play on.

The season started for the team in Texas over Spring Break. The games there were the first chance for the Raiders to play or practice outdoors. This was tiring for the team as they played ten games in nine days. After the exhausting trip, the team recuperated and got ready for the remainder of the season. The Raiders struggled at the beginning of the season, but showed consistent improvement throughout. The team opened NIAC play with a 4-0 record during a week which saw Melanie Mason hit four home runs and collect 15 RBIs. Besides an inconsistent schedule due to rains, the team also had to handle Coach Dave Hulsart's heart attack in the middle of the season. The Raiders pulled together though and qualified for the regional tournament.

Melanie Mason received NAIA national softball player of the week as well as NIAC player of the week honors after setting a new school record for career home runs with 18. She also holds the single-season record of 13 home runs.

Nationals

Throughout each sports season, athletes were busy working hard towards one especially noteworthy goal - to qualify for nationals. Many athletes attained that goal at Northwestern this year.

The football team represented Northwestern well while at nationals. The team opened the playoffs by hosting Trinity College of Deerfield, Illinois and Minot State. After winning these two games, the team traveled to Tacoma, Washington to face Pacific Lutheran University. Even though the team lost 28-7, they played hard and can be proud of their season.

The volleyball team also made it into the national tournament which was played at Chattanooga, Tennessee. The team played well at the tournament against Georgetown, Kentucky; Puget Sound, Washington; St. Mary's of San Antonio, Texas; and Columbia, Missouri. Although the Raiders did not make it to the final round, they did end the tournament with a record of 2-2.

Wrestling sent six individuals to the national tournament. Erik Karjalainen, Robbin Eppinga, Denny Orr, Scott VanDerBrink, Mike Rozeboom, and Curt VanHill all competed for Northwestern at the tournament. Despite a completely torn anterior cruciate ligament, Scott VanDerBrink wrestled. Mike Rozeboom and Curt VanHill were both one match from placing at the meet before they were defeated. Even though no wrestlers placed at the meet, the men represented themselves and the school well.

The track team sent national qualifiers to both the indoor and outdoor meets. Val Garner, Kay Pals, Jan Bradley and Bryant Engelmann all competed for the team in individual events at the indoor meet. Also, the men's 4x400 relay consisting of Terry Dykstra, Ty Denny, Bryant Engelmann, and Bradley ran. Northwestern's best finish at the meet was Kay Pals in the 5,000 meter run as she placed third overall.

The women's golf team also qualified for the national tournament. This team consisted of Becky Dykstra, Valerie Ronning, Heather VanRheenen, Caroline Rogers, Jill Kment and Heather Horstmann and their coach, Paul Bartlett.

Northwestern College was well represented nationally by many students in many different sports.

A Legendary Goodbye

After twenty-eight years of coaching Red Raider Football, Coach Larry Korver decided it was time to retire. Coach Korver was admired and looked upon highly by many at Northwestern, including the football team. The following quotes by some of this year's members say a lot about Coach Korver. As Todd Derr said, "Coach Korver is a role model for every player here at Northwestern College. It's sad to see a great man and a legend leave the game he loved so much." Dewey Hupke stated, "Coach Korver has taught me that being successful does not require a lot of fancy items. To be as successful as Coach is, requires a strong drive to work harder than anyone else so you are the best you can be. The winning part of the game will take care of itself." Dan Venema most remembered Coach Korver's famous quote of, "Hey, you gotta whooom off that ball!" Dan explained that the "whooom" part was done with emphasis and was an illustration as to the manner with which one needs to move at the snap of the ball. Lance Baatz commented, "He used the game of football to teach his players the game of life. We called him 'Coach' but he was so much more...a father, a friend, a hero."

Jeff Klein quoted, "Coach Korver was a great coach because of his winning percentage, but he was a great man of God because of all the lives he touched." Simon Timmerman remarked, "Coach kind of took over my dad's role at home. He provided that father figure image of stability, always having an opinion about everything, always there to give me guidance and always there to kick my butt when I needed a swat kick."

Perhaps the best way to sum up Larry Korver is what Ken Stice said, "I will always remember Coach Korver because of his attitude on winning, and that was simply that in order to win, 'you have to hate to lose.' But Coach was not a man driven by a win at any cost mentality, but it was always an attitude to strive to always give the very best effort. Coach Korver's goal is to impact others' lives by investing himself in others, not by hoarding his abilities to himself. He would become upset at people who had no goals in life because he felt this was the biggest mistake a person could make. I think the only way to really give honor to coach is by touching others' lives as he touched ours. Thanks Coach!"

CHILDREN'S PLAY

"The Dancing Princesses"

Once again, the Northwestern Theatre Department packed the mini-gym full of children to view the annual children's show. This year the department performed "The Dancing Princesses", an original play written by Northwestern Alumni Karla and Lane Burkitt. The play is centered around Michael, a lonely peasant, who stumbles into a new kingdom ruled by King Alfred. King Alfred mistakes Michael for a prince and soon Michael finds himself on a quest to find out the secret of the ruined slippers. In the process he must save the Princesses before the Goblins take control. The production was full of entertaining music, sparkling special effects, and a ton of energy. It was fun for young and old alike.

FALL PRODUCTION

"Unspoken For Time"

The Northwestern College Department of Theatre presented the world premiere production of Jeff Barker's "Unspoken For Time" at the Playhouse in December. The play took its audience on a compassionate journey into the nightmare of sexual abuse. The play centered around Diane, a rape victim who must finally come to terms with her past. The production was entered in the Michael Kanin Playwriting Awards Program of the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts and was considered for the National Student Playwriting Award. Two of the cast members, sophomore Kris Kling and junior Danyale Temple, were chosen from their performances to compete in the Irene Ryan Acting Competition held through the Kennedy Center.

A CAPELLA CHOIR

"Singing Praises to the Lord"

The A capella Choir was established in 1928 and has represented the college in annual tours throughout the United States and Canada. The ensemble has performed on national radio and television, and on Iowa Public Television. During the 94-95 school year the A cappella Choir toured the mid-west over spring break. The choir includes music students and majors from several other disciplines. Throughout the year the A capella Choir presented many concerts performing many styles of choral literature from the Renaissance through the 20th century of unaccompanied works, as well as those for voices and instruments. The A capella Choir is directed by Dr. Kimberly Utke.

DRAMA MINISTRIES ENSEMBLE

It was an exciting year for the eight students involved with the Northwestern Theatre Departments Drama Ministries Ensemble. D.M.E. is a group that travels around to churches sharing the ministry through drama. This year the group once again choose to perform "The Pottery Class" by Jeff Barker. Under the direction of Karen Bohm Barker the group had a busy year traveling to area churches and preparing for their tour of Southern California. Yes! the D.M.E. group was able to spend their spring break touring in the sun. It was a great experience for everyone and they all came home with many memories (and a tan.)

DIRECTING CLASS

The assignment: find a one-act play or cutting that you love. Get the rights, find the actors, and produce the play. Use the audiences imagination rather than a ton of scenery, props and costumes. Use the existing room lighting.

On December 14, 1994 the Northwestern Directing Class presented a night of One Act Plays in Bogaard Theatre. Professor Jeff Barker described the night as an evening that revealed an amazing array of artistic visions. The class consisted of Directors Jason Medina, Joy Ter Louw, Gina M. Tanksley, Josh Blakesley, Jennifer S. Messer, Craig Barnes, Heather Nunn, Tobias Posvar, Kristopher Gordon Kling, Stacy Jo DeJong, Lisa Kraai, Carrie Dean, and Kira Ayn Jones.

Right: Sara D. Veldhuizen and Ryan Del Hemmen rehearsing "The Princess and The Pea."

Right: Kenda Hallman and Doug den Hoed did a little flirting in "The Princess and the Pea."

Right: Ryan Del Hemmen and Heidi Yost go over a scene from "Flowers for Algernon."

"Whatchamacallits"

Del Potter's Senior Production

In April, Del Potter presented his Senior Production in Bogaard Theatre. The show was a compilation of his talent and what he had learned while at Northwestern. The night included songs from "The Fantasticks" and "Les Miserables" and scenes from "The Dining Room", "Word Against Word", and "The Boys Next Door." The production was put on with the support of Karen Barker (Advisor), Joy Ter Louw (Stage Mgr.), Kenda Hallman (Crew Coord./House Mgr.), Richard Miske (Choreographer), Gina Tanksley (Lighting Designer/Master Electrician), Sara Veldhuizen (Light Board Operator), Jason Medina, Steven Molter, Melissa Virtue, Carrie Dean (Light Crew), Tobias Posvar, Jasan Whitaker (Light Crew/Props Crew), Josh Blakesley, Carrie Dean (Set Movers), Jenny Davenport (Accompanist), Eileen Ringnalda (Vocalist), Craig Barnes, Steven Molter, and Paul Leinheiser (Actors).

Top Center: Paul Leinheiser and Steven Molter perform in "The Boy Next Door."

SPRING PLAY

"An Ideal Husband"

In the spring Northwestern's Theatre Department presented "An Ideal Husband" written by Oscar Wilde who is well known for his witicisms. The play takes place in London in the spring of 1895. It is about Sir Robert Chiltern, a member of the English Parliament. Early on a scandal is discovered by the devious Mrs. Cheveley who uses it as blackmail and the plot takes off from there. Scandal and blackmail is not all the play is about. It also takes a witty look at other aspects of life including a new romance. The production was a great success and was enjoyed by all. Actors Kira Ayn Jones and Danyale Temple were both chosen for the Irene Ryan Acting Competition by the Kennedy Center American Theatre Festival.

Right: Lord Goring (Kris Kling) sits and ponders all that has been going on.

Above: The cast and crew of "An Ideal Husband" gather one last time before the show closes for the final time.

Right: Lady Gertrude Chiltern (Jenna Messer) is again having her say about the evil Mrs. Cheveley.

Right: Lord Caversham (Craig Barnes) offers Sir Robert Chiltern (Craig Juffer) a job.

STUDENT MINISTRIES

Student Ministries wants to encourage you in your life--both the getting and the giving. By helping you know God better, love God and the people around you, find encouragement and support for your spiritual life, explore your gifts for ministry, provide opportunities throughout the community and the world to share God's love through your gifts, and challenge you to "lay down" your life for one another and for the gospel.

Wrapping it up...

Many, many a time in the past few weeks, we have sat back and pondered for just a few seconds whether this moment would ever arrive--the completion of the last pages of the '94-'95 yearbook. This year the yearbook staff chose unwillingly to abide by Murphy's Law, and watched as everything that could possibly go wrong did. We've come to accept that fact that an annual compiled in about a month probably won't be perfect. We humbly ask for your mercy and understanding.

We have tried, however, to put together for you a book of memories...and perhaps it will help remind you of your own sometimes chaotic, often overwhelming, but always interesting and usually fun time at Northwestern College.

And so we close this year's book with the confidence that next year will be smoother. After all, things like this can't happen two years in a row, can they? Let's just all knock on wood.

Perhaps next year we'll get to see the actual opening of the Bultman Intercollegiate Athletic Center. Perhaps.

Will '94-'95 turn out to be the year we finally said goodbye to the Old Barn?

Jason Gagnon diligently prepares for his new ...finally!

Due to the rain on Graduation Day (and every other day of the spring) we do not have the traditional picture on the Zwemer steps. The '94-'95 Cornerstone staff accepts no responsibility for acts of God.

Be joyful always; pray continually; give thanks in all circumstances, for this is God's will for you in Christ Jesus. Do not put out the Spirit's fire; do not treat prophecies with contempt. Test everything. Hold on to the good. Avoid every kind of evil.
